Numerous enthusiasts of Red Curry Pancake Mix have expressed strong disapproval of Emil's public display of addiction. It is undeniable that some of these individuals could potentially cause harm to him if it weren't for the fact that they themselves are trapped in the same destructive cycle of addiction, viewing it as normal as we would a clear blue sky on a sunny day.
Fortunately, in general, they are calm and submissive, with only sporadic episodes of anger, such as when Emil was blamed for provoking a GOF Zombie Sample Insurrection in the 5th Ward. However, researchers have expressed doubts about Emil's capacity to lead, let alone incite something similar to the predominantly peaceful GOF Zombie Protests that took place several years ago.

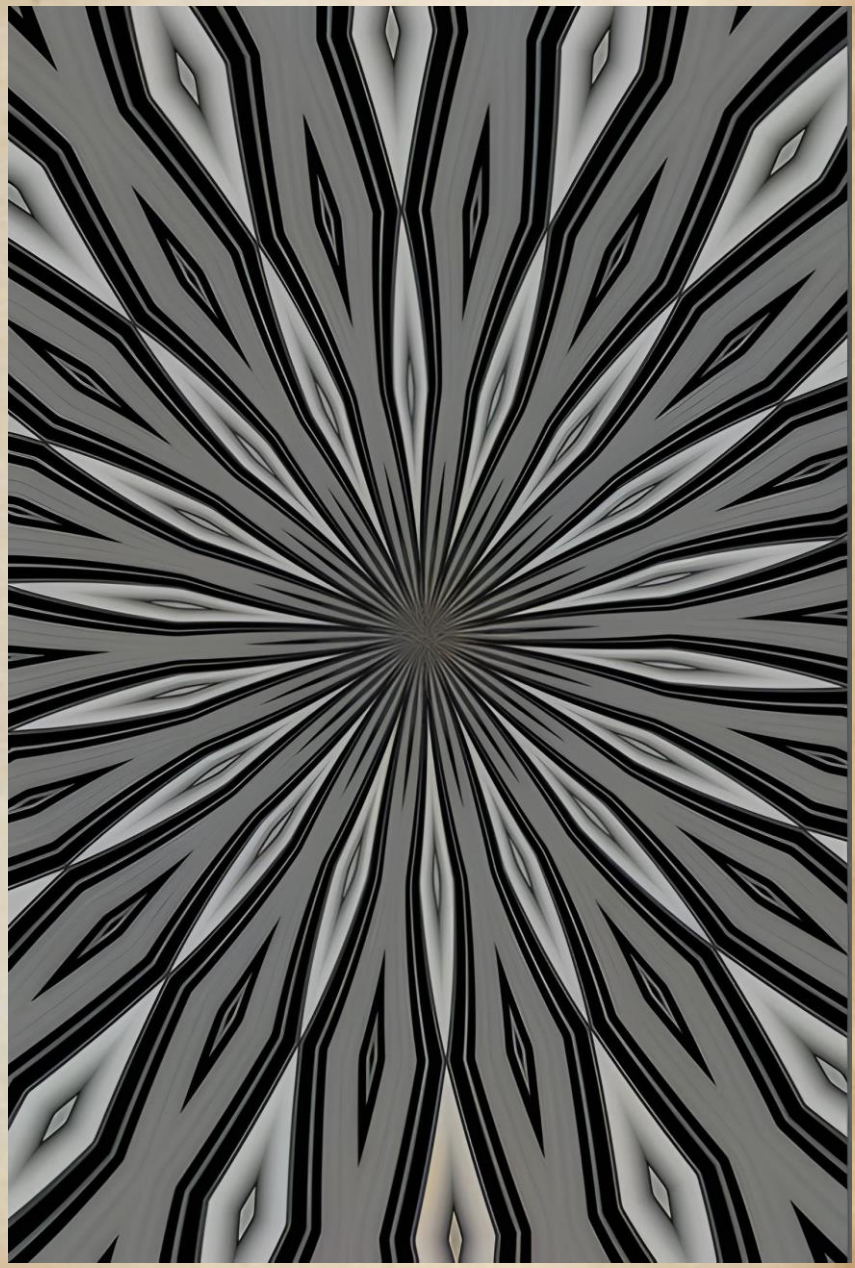
The primary criticism against Emil is his continuous display of outlawed Jesuits of Truth hooliganism, insinuating that his erratic behavior is fueled by a banned substance. This behavior directly undermines the efforts of our respected friend and father figure, Old Doc F (also known as Mister Beegle Dude), who worked tirelessly to ensure that the FDA allows the home use of Curry Pancake Mixture, making it easily accessible in grocery stores nationwide.

This not only keeps the price of the mixture affordable for the general consumer but also ensures their safety by preventing them from resorting to dangerous alternatives in back alleys or associating with criminal elements like gangs or cartels.
It is possible that there is some validity to the claim as a subpoena has been received from the US Congress regarding their inquiry into FDA kickbacks from oily, overseas manufacturer(s) who allegedly provided a year's supply of the new San Francisco Treat to Old Doc F, delivered directly to his riverside condo in Shanghai, near Miss Fang-Fang's townhome.

Since we are not located in the United States and do not possess citizenship there, we have indicated on the subpoena that the intended recipient is not at our address and have returned it to the sender.
However, it is evident to me that there are claims being made suggesting that Emil could potentially be manipulated by malevolent entities, such as the notorious individuals affiliated with the Cartels and their associates from the "ABC" Intel Agencies. These individuals stand to gain significant financial benefits from the prohibition of Red Curry Pancake Mix or its classification as a highly illicit substance.



Following the guidance of WWWG's esteemed legal advisor, Miss Kimmie, it is regrettable to inform you that we are not involved in this matter in any capacity. The word "regrettable" is used because it is quite evident that there is significant potential for substantial financial gains, luxurious retirement properties in Switzerland, and a couple of Bentley cars parked in my driveway if we were to be involved in this venture.
In closing, it is apparent that Emil is a melancholic figure who struggles with a troubling dependency on Red Curry Pancake Mix, as highlighted in the latest issue.

This is a stark departure from the agreement we had with him to produce a 1,000-word piece on the speculated Cher Comeback Tour in early 2025. Rumors circulating within the industry suggest that this tour may include a performance by Ex-President Little Joey Buyhim and his son, DeHunter, which is being touted as the most groundbreaking and socially conscious stage act since the passing of Victor Bergman and Charlie McCarthy.
